REFERENCE PHOTOS:

Art students are very good about changing Google images when using them for references, but it's much more enjoyable and freeing to use their own photos. I want them to use their own images as much as possible this year. Family and friends can help provide old/new photos of landscapes, beach scenes, vacation shots, home-places, animals, or any beautiful or interesting thing up close (to be able to see details.)

NOTE: Siblings may share art supplies but each one will need their own sketchbook. If any of the supplies are a financial burden, please let me know so that all students can enjoy the whole creative experience.

I gladly welcome your ideas, questions or comments!
